INTRODUCTION.

THE fine collection described in the following pages is the property of a gentleman widely and favorably known among the coin collectors of the United States, and is worthy of the attention of American collectors, because the great majority of pieces possess the two desirable attributes of rarity and fine preservation. The collection is one essentially representative of the various modern coinages, and the specimens have been selected with such care that there is not, in fact, among the silver pieces, a coin illegible or unworthy to figure in a good cabinet. The extremely fine distinctions between good, uncirculated and proof coins, of late drawn by collectors generally, and the higher value set by them upon coins of superior preservation, have been constantly before my mind while cataloguing, but the uniform fine preservation of the pieces has enabled me to overcome this stumbling-block with greater ease than I had apprehended, and to avoid, I hope, the mistakes made by several of my confreres of allowing their admiration for a rare piece to bias their judgment when describing its actual preservation. It is not deemed necessary to give any special outline of the collection, yet I may be pardoned for referring to the first coinages of South American Republics, the U. S. series in gold and silver, the Swedish and Polish coins, the Reformation coins and medals, and in general to the German crowns of the 16th and 17th centuries, as being particularly worthy of the attention of our best collectors.

SILVER DOLLARS.

- 652 1799. Six stars facing. Fine impression
- 653 1799. The same, with crack through date and some indentations on obverse field ; otherwise fine
- 654 1799. Five stars facing. Fine light impression. Nearly uncirculated. Rare
- 655 1800. Rubbed on hair, otherwise nearly fine. The tip of the left wing is connected with several stars by curving lines shaped like the tail of a comet, by some supposed to allude to the new century. Though not sharing this opinion, I believe this marked and hitherto unnoticed peculiarity gives the piece considerable interest

110 656 1859. New Orleans Mint. Very fine, but scratched on obverse field

110 657 1871 and 1872. Very good and fine impressions 2 pieces

HALF DOLLARS.

910 658 1795. Lower curl touching star. Rev. Nineteen berries to wreath. With the qualification that the stars on right are not struck up sharp and that the milling is broken, a strong, extremely fine impression

60 659 1795. Barely fair, and poor 2 pieces

50 660 1810 and 1811. Fair impressions 2 pieces

50 661 1825. Fine

50 662 1828. Extremely fine impression. Uncirculated

50 663 1837. Uncirculated

QUARTER DOLLARS.

270 664 1796. Perfectly uncirculated, nearly proof condition; a strong impression, with broad regular milling, weak only opposite the point of bust. Undoubtedly the finest impression known and superior to either of the pieces of this denomination and date offered at the Clay and Cohen sales. Extremely rare

27 665 1805. From different dies; fair 2 pieces

27 666 1815. Very fine; stars all sharp. Rare

41 667 1832. Uncirculated
